This is a Discipline-specific Global Learning course that counts toward your graduation requirement.

COURSE DESCRIPTION
This course examines gender and sexuality in contemporary Sub-Saharan Africa, using a critique of Western conventional categories and a critical approach to the AIDS epidemic as frames for thinking about changes in African societies over the past two decades. Drawing primarily on ethnographic work and theoretical literature from the social sciences, the course examines notions of gendered and sexualized identifications in sub-Saharan Africa. Theoretically, the course asks how Sub-Saharan African contexts challenge Western or Global North conventional conceptualizations of gender and sexualities. More empirically, the course explores key aspects of personhood in Sub-Saharan African societies, including the consideration of the impact of the colonial legacy, conceptions and practices of reproduction, women’s rights, homosexuality and trans-sexual practices, constructions of masculinities and femininities, etc.

The course assumes that enrolled students will have some background—at the introductory level—in gender and sexuality studies.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES
By the end of this course students will be able to:
- theorize gender and sexuality in African contexts.
- critically examine and assess the applicability or lack thereof of Western conventional theoretical approaches to gender and sexuality in African societies.
- demonstrate an understanding of how Sub-Saharan African contexts challenge the ways gendered identities, personhood, “love,” and intimacy are conceptualized (and sometimes universalized) in the West or Global North.
- demonstrate an expansion of their understanding of African contemporary issues.
- feel more engaged with African concerns related to gender and sexualities.

GLOBAL LEARNING STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES
By the end of this course, students will be able to:
Global Awareness:
Students will be able to demonstrate knowledge of how much local African gender constructs and sexualities are interrelated with global, international, and intercultural issues, movements, trends, and systems.
Global Perspective:
- Students will be able to take into consideration both African and Western feminist, queer studies, and other theoretical perspectives in their analyses of African sexualities and gender constructs as they are performed locally, and are influenced by global and international forces and laws, in ever growing intercultural contexts.

Global Engagements:
Students will be able to propose solutions to specific cases of gender intolerance and rigid heteronorm activity in given local, global and intercultural African contexts.

Course Communication
Communication in this course will take place via messages.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

- Blackboard Reading Response E-Posts
  During the semester students must contribute eight (8) 3/4 - 1 page (approximately 300-400 words) reading response e-posts under the “discussion” section of the Blackboard site. E-posts are aimed at encouraging inquiry, analysis and discussion among students, on-line. E-posts are due by the endings of Each Modules. Students are encouraged, but not required, to read one another’s e-posts. These responses are evaluated on the basis of the quality of students’ engagement with the core themes of the readings and the coherence and clarity of the writing. As you read for the week, consider the following questions. These will also help you to write your reading response:
  1) What is the main argument(s)? Why did the author(s) write the article or chapter?
  2) What are the data used as evidence by the author to support the claims he/she makes in his/her argument?
  3) What is useful about the reading(s)?
  4) Were any of the points made questionable? If so, why?
  5) What points, issues, or terms would you like to discuss or have clarified?
  6) How do the various readings assigned inform each other? Contradict? Raise new questions?

- Exams
  There are five (5) multiple choice exams based on assigned readings and films.

- Film Reaction Papers
  You are expected to write (3) film reaction papers (2-3 pages, 12 pt, double-spaced) from the assigned films in the Modules. One out of these three film reaction papers will count as your GL film reaction paper. The GL film (Global Learning film) will be identify within the syllabus and Modules. You will use part 4 of your film reaction paper format to complete your GL film reaction paper. Students can choose any of the required films in the course on which to write a reaction paper, however each paper is due the Monday after the film is assigned. The format of the film reaction papers will be posted under class resources.

Please note that your course requires the use of Turnitin to submit your assignments.

- Review the detailed Turnitin Instructions on how to submit your assignments and how to review the Grademark comments (feedback) from your professor.

Additional Items

1. A note on papers: Make sure you proofread your papers and provide appropriate citations when referencing readings from our class. Papers will be evaluated based upon the following criteria:
   - A: outstanding analysis; solid examples and reasons provided to support views; clearly written.
   - B: fulfilled the assignment adequately; few if any grammatical problems or unclear sentences.
   - C: fulfilled the assignment but either the analysis is insufficient or superficial and/or there were a number grammatical mistakes.
   - D: the assignment was not adequately fulfilled and/or there were a substantial number of grammatical errors; awkward and confusing sentences.
   - E: the assignment was not turned in within two weeks of the due date, or was not completed according to the criteria listed above.

2. Papers must include a title, your name, the course name and page numbers.

3. You must avoid –at all costs –direct quotations in your papers. Please paraphrase and cite only from course materials. For citation style, see the AAA style guide uploaded on the course content page of this course’s website.

4. All assignments and exams are to be uploaded onto turnitin.com. NO late papers will be accepted for full credit without a medical excuse. No exceptions will be made.

5. Plagiarism is a serious offense. If you use the work of other authors without giving them credit, you will receive a ‘0’ for the assignment and you will be reported to Academic Affairs. To avoid plagiarism, all assignments will have to be uploaded onto turnitin.com.

6. In this course, we will be discussing topics some might consider sensitive, provocative, or taboo such as race and sexuality. It is imperative that you express your opinions in a respectful manner.

Make-up Policy: All assignments/exams should be submitted on the dates they are due. The only exceptions are dire emergency, grave illness, and religious holidays. In the case of the first, whether or not a situation qualifies as a dire emergency will be determined by me. Since I do not see most reasons for failing to turn in assignments and take exams as dire emergencies, not attempting to make these excuses is your best bet. In the case of the second, I require a doctor’s note.

8. Accommodations for Disabilities: Any student who, because of disability, may require accommodations in order to meet course requirements should contact me as soon as possible to make the necessary arrangements. It is the responsibility of the student to request accommodations for individual learning needs. FIU and I will make every attempt to accommodate all students with disabilities. For further information on resources available at FIU, contact the Disability Resource Center at WUC 131, Biscayne Park Campus (Phone: 9-5211; Email: drc@fiu.edu).
