Event/Topic Blog Post Guidelines

Guiding questions:
1. Why is this topic important to me? Why should it matter to others?
2. How does the topic impact my local and/or global community?
3. Overall, how does participating in this experience has impacted my understanding of global awareness, global perspectives, and global engagement?

Suggestions:
1. Please take the guiding questions just as suggestions to think about the topic. You do not have to answer all those questions, but hopefully they will help you get started.
2. Feel free to write creatively, be honest about your ideas and how the experience made you feel.
3. The blog does not need to be written in an academic tone. The tone can be informal and conversational. Be as engaging as you can!

Please submit your blog post to ysimonme@fiu.edu in a word document. Make sure to include the following:
1. Your name, year, major, and event/experience your blog post addresses. Specify if you are a Global Learning Medallion student.
2. Your post (anywhere between 250-500 words)
3. A tentative title (if you can’t think of any, send us your post anyway)
4. Pictures (if you have any, please attach them to your email)

Publication:
1. You will be notified if the post meets the guidelines to be published in our website/social media.
2. You will be awarded 1 point towards the GLM program afterwards.
